What's New This Year

- Nothing! I'm tired.
- Actually, I removed a bunch of stuff this year. Turns out a travelling trophy map isn't that interesting when the majority of you live in the Miami Valley watershed.

Previous seasons' editions can be found at andrewelsass.com/fantasy-sports-media-guide

On the cover: It Came Home for at least one chap this summer (can't decide if this would be funnier if England actually won or not)

League Notes

- Endangered Species Watch—With six more players posting seasons strong enough to land among the league's Top 25 best ever (page 10), just three pre-2020 seasons now remain on the list.
- Snug as a Bug—The 50-point gap between our champion and runner-up wasn't quite last year's 14-point margin, but was still the third-closest finish in league history.
- Veteran Owned—This is the first time since 2019/20 that both the Copa and Turley were lifted by repeat champions.

Select Player Notes

- One for the Thumb—For the first time in nine seasons, 342 gameweeks, and approximately 3,200 showers, Jacob F. once again holds the very trophy he forged from his own credit card.
- Cup for the Cup God—The title, his fifth, once again makes his collective trophy case the league's largest (6), breaking his tie with Taylor K.
- Math Don't Lie—On a strictly points-per-season basis, Makenzi E. is now the league's all-time greatest player, and don't let your husband or anyone else ever tell you otherwise.
- There Was Definite Cupping—For the third straight year, an Evans couldn't close it out in the Turley Cup final, giving Brendan O. a record-tying third cup and his second in three years. Since 2020/21, he's batting .800 (10-2) in Cup matches and is now the Turley winner with the lowest regular season finishing position (8th).
- Heavy is the Head With Many Medals—By finishing third, Casey D. logged his fifth-consecutive top-three finish, matching only Jacob F.'s run from 2011-16.
- Enjoy Thursday Nights in Bratislava—Going from 15th to 6th, Patrick D. posts the season's largest jump from last season and earns his place in next season's Copa De Boro Europa Conference League.
- It's the Children Who Are Wrong—Those players (that I know of) with kids born during the previous season saw an average 12.5% decrease in points, including a career-low finish for Taylor K.
